

Our 102nd Year

Town Shoots For Compromise With Developer

By Frank Messina

Even as the Board of Selectmen move to block a proposed downtown shooting range, negotiations are underway to reach a compromise with the project's developers.

Chairman Gail Ralston met unofficially with developers Benjamin Osgood and G. Bradley Richards last week and has scheduled an executive session after Monday's board meeting to discuss "partial relief" of parking regulations.

A concession slicing the number of required parking spaces could allow the partners to drop the controversial shooting range in favor of retail shops—their original proposal that was rejected by the Planning Board last year as a violation of town parking laws.

Mr. Osgood called the session with Mrs. Ralston an "informational meeting. There's been an awful lot of confusion on this issue," he said. "It was our feeling the selectmen didn't have the benefit of our side of the story."

Meanwhile, a warrant article discussed by the Board of Selectmen Tuesday night would stymie the shooting range by prohibiting gun clubs in "congested areas."

After sharply criticizing a $2 million eminent domain buyout packaged into last week's special town meeting petition, the selectmen unveiled a new warrant article designed to stop plans to build the shooting range at 32-34 Park St. this summer.

If approved at special town meeting on June 19, the article would ban shooting ranges in "congested areas," such as the downtown business district, and from close proximity to churches, schools, liquor stores and residences.

In addition, the board would also have the power to deny a license on the basis of character and qualifications to run a "facility involving the use of potentially deadly instrumentalities," reads the article.

But the board expressed serious reservations.

WWII Captain Honored By Town

By Melissa M. De Meo

It is April, 1945. A world war is raging, but you'd hardly know it now in the still early morning in a hazy Korean harbor.

The submarine moves stealthily through the shallow, uncharted waters, carefully maneuvering around mines that could sink it in a matter of seconds. After a look around the island Quelpart, the crew finds what they're looking for: enemy boats. Three of them, one a 10,000-ton ammunition ship.

They fire two torpedoes, which hit their target and turn night into day. Two of the frigates spot the sub in the light of the white flame and start a chase. The commanding officer fires more torpedoes, and both ships are blown out of the water.

There's not much time. With five shore-based radars nearby and not enough water to submerge, the submarine somehow leaves the harbor undetected and unscathed.

It could be the script from a tacky, over-produced wartime movie. It even has the parts about the crew all getting along with another and the gallant leadership bringing the sub through its maiden voyage with a long list of sunken enemy ships to its credit. In the end, the captain gets the Medal of Honor.

For retired Capt. George L. Street III of Andover and the crew of the U.S.S. Tirante, April '45 was no script. It was real life and real war.

"It was scary," said R.O. Grissom, the Tirante electrician who came all the way from Dallas, Texas, last weekend to honor his former skipper. "He was infallible," he said of Capt. Street, who was especially recognized at Andover's Memorial Day services Monday for his wartime valor.

"He always let the crew know we would take calculated risks," said George Karlesses of Pennsylvania, the sub's signalman/quartermaster. "But he said he would bring us back, and he did."

Mr. Karlesses said the captain and his executive officer, Ned Beach, "were the best one-two punch to come out of World War II."

The captain himself is not a man of self-flattery. He is more likely to use "we" than "I" and is insistent that the Tirante's crew worked together to achieve their successes. Whenever he planned an attack, he would put a map on the ward room table and ask opinions from his crew, not starting with the most senior officer, but the most junior. "Sometimes the youngest had the best ideas," he said.

And they were young. Capt. Street was the oldest at 32, and the average age of the men was about 22. "I didn't have enough sense to come in out of the rain," Mr. Grissom said.

"I was young, let me at 'em, clean up the world," said Mr. Karlesses, who enlisted in the Navy at 17.

And they trusted Capt. Street implicitly. "I don't think they'd ever question his ability," said Dave Remley of Gales Ferry, Conn., chief of the boat. "One of his assets was that he could instill confidence in his crew. And that's important, especially in wartime."

"He didn't have to demand their respect; he earned it."

A native of Richmond, Va., Capt. Street graduated from the Naval Academy in 1937. After several stints on Navy subs, he reported to Portsmouth, N.H., for his first command, the U.S.S. Tirante.

As a prospective commanding officer, he would visit the ship as it was being built. "The workmen said to me, 'Boy, she's a lucky submarine. Everything goes right the first time. We haven't had any trouble with her.' She's always been lucky."

The Tirante crew agreed: destiny was on their side. "How we got in and out of there (Quelpart harbor)

Musicians Aid Penguin Park

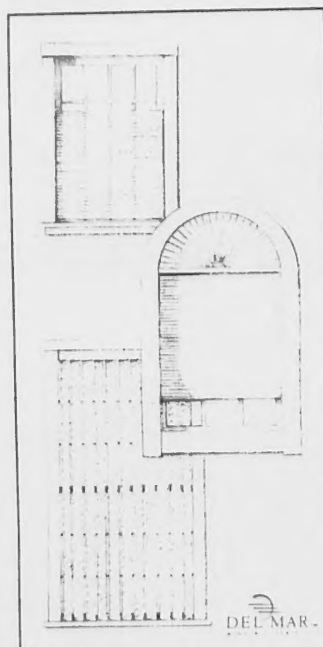

Penguin Park will sponsor an afternoon of songs featuring two of Andover's foremost children's entertainers, Sandi Yellenberg and Cantor Donn Rosensweig, Monday, June 12, at 1 p.m. at Temple Emanuel, Haggetts Pond Road, Andover.

Refreshments will be served and, if weather permits, parents and children are invited to eat and socialize outdoors.

Ms. Yellenberg is a music specialist at local nursery schools and has taught in the Kaleidoscope and Arts Workshop for Children programs. Cantor Rosensweig sings each week with the children at the Temple Emanuel Nursery School. He recently sang at a concert of area cantors in Newton.

All donations benefit Penguin Park, the proposed area playground designed to be safe and developmentally appropriate for children from infants to six years old. More than 100 parents are volunteering their time to raise the needed $30,000 to construct this safe play space. For more information about the concert or playground, call Ruth Rosensweig, 4 Aspen Circle, or Lois Karfunkel, 22 Orchard Crossing.

Voter Registration Extended

Extended voter registration for the June 19 special town meeting will be held at the town clerk's office in town hall on Friday, June 9, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. June 9 will be the final day to register.

Andover residents who have voted in recent local, state and national elections don't need to re-register. Those who wish to sign up must bring some proof of residency.

Applicants Overwhelm DCS

The Department of Community Services office was inundated with applicants for its summer playground positions, said DCS director Joan Pearson.

Over 50 applications were received for less than a dozen open positions, she said. "Unfortunately, most of these would-be leaders will receive letters thanking them and suggesting that they apply next year," Ms. Pearson said.

She added that students may gain more experience by volunteering at the playgrounds this summer and at the special events held throughout the year.

Pomps Pond Requires ID

A new policy will be going into effect at Pomps Pond this summer. Non-residents will pay a $3-per-person fee. Residents will be asked to show identification to enter at no charge.

Department of Community Services staff members ask parents to remember the policy when older children go to the pond by themselves.

There also may be slight delays entering the area, so parents should allow extra time when taking kids to swimming classes, staffers said.

A stop work order imposed on the Ravens Bluff housing project will stay in effect indefinitely.

Imposed by the Planning Board because of unauthorized earth movement, developer Yvon Cormier has indicated that a slow housing market has forced him to stop work on the project.

Smallest Oscillator Made At North Andover Plant

AT&T has announced it is producing the electronic industry's smallest crystal oscillator at its Merrimack Valley plant in North Andover.

Based on a unique silicon-chip design that can be surface-mounted on a circuit board, this oscillator requires less board space, thereby providing designers more flexibility.

The company said it offers superior reliability due to proven manufacturing methods, a low component count and improved ceramic packaging. Environmental tests on the product indicate a low failure-rate over time and excellent resistance to shock and vibration.

A crystal oscillator is an active, electronic device that generates a repetitive on-off-on-off signal. Oscillators are used in all digital equipment, such as computers, disk drives, telephone central office switches, transmission equipment and digital instruments.

"We expect the advantages of this surface-mount oscillator will make it the next industry standard," said Ildiko Gonda, AT&T's oscillator marketing manager. "We do not plan to limit our product offering to this product alone. As the needs of the electronics industry change, we will introduce additional frequency control products over the next two years."

The product is available now from AT&T and will be available from regional distributors.

Comedy Night To Benefit Anti-Drug Programs

Saturday night will be a night of laughter and dancing at the Andover High School cafeteria. The department of community services, along with Doherty Middle School Kids for Fun and West Middle School Kids for Kids, are sponsoring a Comedy Night and dance for seventh- and eighth-graders from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at the high school cafeteria.

Professional comedians from the Boston Comedy Company will provide the jokes and disc jockey Ted Teichert will be spinning the records following the comedian's performances. Tickets can be bought in advance at either middle school's main office or at the door.

Proceeds will benefit the middle schools' anti-drug awareness programs.

To Receive Emeritus Status At NECC

Donald Horgan

The Northern Essex Community College Board of Trustees voted unanimously to award professor emeritus status to three former college faculty members. Receiving the honor at the June 3 commencement exercises will be Elizabeth Arnold of South Harwich, retired professor in the department of English, John Finneran of North Andover, retired professor in the department of natural sciences, and Donald Horgan, a former resident of Andover and professor in the division of business, who will receive the honor posthumously.

To be selected for emeritus status, individuals must have retired from a minimum of 15 years of service at the college and demonstrated excellence in performance and/or meritorious service to the college. Candidates are recommended to the president of the college by an emeritus status committee and confirmed by a vote of the trustees.

Ms. Arnold taught at Northern Essex from 1969 until her retirement in the spring of 1988. A former resident of North Andover, she was faculty advisor to the college's award-winning, bi-weekly newspaper, The Observer.

Mr. Finneran, a graduate of Harvard University and Boston University, taught at Northern Essex since the college was founded in 1961.

Mr. Horgan taught at Northern Essex from 1966 until the time of his death in March of 1988.

"Each of these people represent the very best in teaching," said Marjorie Goudreault, chairman of the board of trustees.

John R. Dimitry, president of Northern Essex, said "These three individuals were dedicated teachers who provided outstanding service to the college and its students."

Honored At Dartmouth

Peter MacDonald, a Dartmouth College senior from Andover, has been cited by a professor of government for outstanding academic achievement during the past term.

Prof. Charles B. McLane writes, "His paper on IMF relations with Poland and Hungary was of graduate degree quality."

Mr. MacDonald, son of Peter and Donna MacDonald of 40 Farrwood Drive, is a 1985 graduate of Phillips Academy. He has participated in three foreign study abroad programs, in Leningrad, Moscow and London.

Members of the faculty are invited to submit citation reports only when a student's work is sufficiently distinguished to merit special recognition. Relatively few are submitted each term.

Dartmouth operates on a distinctive four-term, year-round system.

Tour Of Shawsheen Slated

The Andover Historical Society and Andover Appalachian Mountain Club plan a walking tour of Shawsheen Village on Sunday, June 4, at 2 p.m. The meeting place is the parking lot near the intersection of Routes 133 and 28. A small fee will be charged. Warren Lewis, leader and local historian, conducts an informative experience through this model corporate village built by William Wood between 1919 and 1924 on the site of the Colonial Frye Village.

Shawsheen Village is a unique resource for the town of Andover, the Commonwealth and the nation. Its location surrounding the intersection of Main, Poor, Haverhill and Lowell streets was purposely chosen because of its proximity to the Shawsheen River, accessibility of the railroad, pre-existing mill sites and availability of purchasable land. The Shawsheen Village creator, William Wood (1858-1926), resided at 276 North Main St., and founded the American Woolen Company. He was described as one of this country's "top business leaders" of his time by Edward Roddy, author of "Mills, Mansions and Mergers: The Life of William M. Wood."

Gym Team In Nationals

The Andover-North Andover branch of the Merrimack Valley YMCA girls' gymnastic team will travel to the YMCA National gymnastics championship in Sarasota, Fla., June 21-24. Each girl must achieve a 26 all around score in optional competition during the regular season to qualify for the national championship. Eleven girls have qualified: Nicole Belle Isle, Kerry Brady, Sarah Faraci, Samantha Genier, Stacey Lavoie, Tania Pierce, Marlene Ratto, Amanda Schaake, Mara Shift, all of Andover, and Jackie Smith and Meg Geddes of Lawrence.

The team placed second in the YMCA State gymnastics championship and fifth in the YMCA Regional meet.

Meg Geddes and Tania Pierce will represent the team in the North vs. South meet June 10. This YMCA meet, being held for the first time, will represent the top 20 gymnasts from the northeast and southeast regions.

The Andover-North Andover YMCA offers classes in gymnastics for all ages, starting at six months. Classes will be offered in all levels this summer, plus three weeks of afternoon gymnastic camps. For further information, call Russ Mentzer at the Y.

Special Needs Camp Planned

The Department of Community Services is sponsoring a camp for teenagers with special needs this summer.

Camp Hurrah is designed for young people from their early teens through early 20s and will be composed of two camps in one, said Drew Bililies, camp coordinator.

One camp will be for teens who are "high functioning" and like to be challenged, and the second will be for youngsters with moderate special needs.

"These two groups will participate in separate activities designed for their needs," Mr. Bililies said. "Occasionally they will come together for group activities in helping one another."

The camp will be located on the Phillips Academy campus, where campers will get the use of PA facilities, including the school's pool. Campers will also take field trips and participate in a life skills program, which will be held in the center of Andover.

The camp will run from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday. An optional after-camp horseback riding class will be available from 2 to 3 p.m. Camp Hurrah will be held for five weeks, from July 3 to Aug. 4. Campers may register by the week, with a two-week minimum.

During the day, campers will hike and explore the environment and put on a play. "Campers will ride the van and explore the city, the beaches, the amusement parks and all the great things that make summer summer," Mr. Bililies said. "Campers will enjoy days of fun (and) relaxation..."

The Andover school department of special education will maintain an educational component where appropriate. Also, transportation may be available to Andover residents based on their educational plan, Mr. Bililies said.

Contact DCS at the town offices on Bartlett Street for a registration form or more information.

Awarded Brown Scholarship

Brown University junior Katrina Smith of Andover has been awarded a Beinecke Scholarship by the Beinecke Memorial Scholarship Program of New Canaan, Conn. The Beinecke will give her $2,000 to be used in any way during her senior year and $15,000 for each of the first two years of her graduate school education.

Ms. Smith, an environmental studies concentrator, plans to pursue two graduate degrees, one in natural sciences and the other in law or public policy. Her goal is to teach environmental studies at the college level.

Ms. Smith is one of eight college students in the nation who have won Beinecke scholarships this year. The award recognizes students who have achieved a high level of academic excellence. One of the requirements is that the student be receiving some kind of financial aid.

According to Nancy Baker, associate dean of the college, a Beinecke was last awarded to a Brown student in 1981. The recipient, Travis Holcombe, a 1982 Brown graduate, attended Johns Hopkins Medical School and is a surgery resident at Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas.

Museum Accredited

The Museum of American Textile History in North Andover has again been awarded the highest honor a museum can receive: subsequent accreditation by the American Association of Museums. Subsequent accreditation certifies that a museum continues to operate according to standards set forth by the museum profession, manages its collections responsibly and provides quality service to the public.

"We hope the people of the Merrimack Valley share our pride in having earned this prestigious honor," says Thomas W. Leavitt, director of the Museum of American Textile History.

The Museum of American Textile History, located at 800 Massachusetts Avenue, specializes in objects and information related to the production of textiles in America. It is open Tuesday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. The current exhibitions are "Factory Labor: Shaping Work in America" and "A Museum is..." Special events include vacation weaving workshops for children in June and August, a new exhibition on contemporary handweaving opening in September and Spinning Day in October.

H-P Awards Checks To Employees

Nearly 2,500 eligible employees of Hewlett-Packard Company's Massachusetts-based employees received cash profit-sharing checks totaling $2.3 million.

HP distributed nearly $72 million to more than 81,000 eligible employees throughout the world.

"Profit-sharing has been an important part of the HP way," said John A. Young, president and chief executive officer. "It's one way we recognize the contribution employees make to HP's success."

HP employees are eligible for profit-sharing after six consecutive months of service with the company. Two checks are issued annually—one in May and one in December. Combined, the checks represent from two to four weeks of extra pay. HP initiated its current profit-sharing plan in 1962, but the 50-year-old company has been distributing profits to employees in one form or another since its beginning.

HP's presence in Massachusetts consists of the HP Medical Products Group world headquarters in Andover, manufacturing facilities for its medical products in Waltham and Andover, sales offices in Burlington and Andover and the headquarters of the new Apollo Division, formerly Apollo Computer, in Chelmsford.

Hewlett-Packard Company is an international manufacturer of measurement and computation products and systems recognized for excellence in quality and support. The company's products and services are used in industry, business, engineering, science, medicine and education in 93 countries. The company has 93,000 employees and had a revenue of $9.8 billion in its 1988 fiscal year.

BOLIVAR
CUP 1989

Karen Castignoli gets her boat ready for an attempt at the Bolivar Cup.

It's Smooth Sailing For West Middle School Pupils

West Middle School students recently completed a technology unit with a model sailboat race. Technology instructor John Fawcett coordinated the interdisciplinary unit to reinforce the nautical terms and concepts the students were introduced to in another science program, "Voyage of the Mimi."

During technology classes, 215 sailboats were packaged and shipped to nine sixth-grade classes, where they were finally assembled and readied for the Bolivar Cup Races.

After the students participated in the initial rounds, the top 27 raced against each other during open house last Thursday. The Bolivar Cup was presented by former Andover High School football captain Bill Donovan, a cadet at the Massachusetts Maritime Academy. Paul DiFranco took first place; Keith Patti came in second; and Tom Clarke, third.

"The kids had the opportunity to see something built from beginning to end," said Mr. Fawcett. "They had to have industry involved. They used pieces of the boats to put them together, so they got to see how subcontractors work."

In addition, the students got to see the world's fastest boat and the world's oldest boat design in person. Mr. Fawcett arranged for the speed boat that won last year's North American championship and a dory built by the 200-year-old shipbuilding firm Grand Banks in Amesbury to be on West's front lawn during the races.

"Both technologies have a place; both are necessary," he explained. "It showed them that they as technologists can build one-of-a-kind things or work in manufacturing."

The following companies were on hand for the festivities and received awards for their contributions to the project: Eastern Technologies, New England Laser, Doyle Lumber Co., Southern-Seven Racing Team and the Lowell Boat House. Technology teachers William Wright, Judith Hazzard, Joanne Devney and all c' West's sixth-grade teachers helped get the project going.

Phillips Library Gets Facelift

Oliver Wendell Holmes Library Rededicated After Renovations

Phillips Academy's Oliver Wendell Holmes Library was rededicated amidst festivities that included music by the Faculty Brass Quartet, speakers, a reception and special thanks to donors who raised funds for the construction of a new wing.

Major renovation and expansion of PA's library, originally designed by Charles Platt in 1929, was recently completed by Shepley Bulfinch Richardson & Abbot, an award-winning, Boston-based architectural firm whose client roster has included Trinity Church in Boston, Stanford University (original campus) and the Smithsonian Institution. Project designer was Alexander Howe, a 1965 PA graduate.

Dr. Charles E. Pierce, Jr., director of the Pierpont Morgan Library in New York City since 1987, was the speaker for the rededication exercises. A noted scholar and educator, Dr. Pierce received his bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees in English from Harvard University. He is only the fourth director of the Morgan in its 65-year history as a public museum, research library and one of the nation's pre-eminent repositories of books, manuscripts and drawings.

Dr. Pierce was a teaching fellow at Phillips from 1964 to '65 and a member of the Vassar College faculty from 1970 to 1987. He is the author of numerous articles and a book on the life and work of 18th-century English lexicographer and writer Samuel Johnson.

Phillips Academy's library, designed in 1929, was rededicated in recent ceremonies. Dr. Charles E. Pierce, Jr., director of the Pierpont Morgan Library in New York City, was the keynote speaker.

September, effectively doubles its size, accommodating 200,000 volumes and providing a variety of study spaces, said Beverly W. Henderson, PA's director of public information.

"The new structure meets the challenge of visually integrating with and maintaining the integrity of the existing Holmes library, while creating a contemporary interior with its own architectural character," she said.

Cultural Dialogue

U.S., German Students Chat By Satellite

A cross-cultural exchange, live via satellite, will be taking place today between 50 eighth-grade students in Greater Lowell and 25 in West Germany.

Called KITES (Kids' Interactive Telecommunications Experience by Satellite), the international telecommunications project was conceived last year at the University of Lowell College of Education.

The KITES teleconference culminates year-long communications between students in the Chelmsford, Dracut and Lowell public schools and their peers in Karlsruhe, in the West German state of Baden-Wuerttemberg. Original contact between the school systems was established by the Massachusetts Corporation for Educational Telecommunications.

KITES will originate on the United States' side from the Bedford studio of the Digital Video Network, Digital Equipment Corp.'s private television network for employee training and education. Other resource contributors include Videostar Connections, PanAm Sat (satellite providers), the German Bundespost (government-owned telecommunications administration) and television professionals in Boston and Palo Alto.

The students and their teachers in both countries have been involved in a curriculum focused on math and science and have exchanged audio tapes, artifacts and data communications through a link provided by BBN communications. The students will see and speak with each other for the first time, to share their perspectives on environmental science issues, focusing on nuclear power generation.

John LeBaron, ULowell associate professor of education and director of the KITES project, stresses the need for improved global understanding. "There is every reason to get kids involved. The use of private sector facilities to enhance youth discussion of global issues is critically important," he says.

BABY TALK

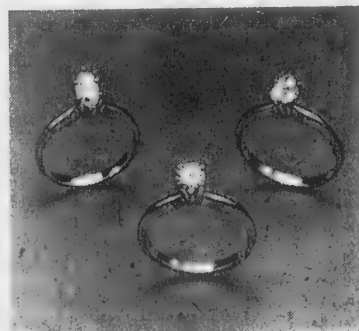

by Jack Resnick

One problem in the early weeks after birth is when to give a bath. It shouldn't be right after a feeding when it could upset the stomach, or the chance for a good sleep. And it can't be managed when the baby is frantic for a feeding. Wait for a good-mood time, after about a week at home, and see how it goes for both of you. At least it will probably make you feel better to have your baby freshly bathed, even if he/she has made strong objections during the process. But maybe not: a lot depends on how adept you are.

You will find the furniture to suit your decor at TINY TOTLAND. We carry baby furniture by Simmons, Childcraft, Bassett & Morgeaux. Baby toys...everything from "heaven to seven". How to choose a pediatrician without kidding around.

If you let your children choose a pediatrician, they would probably pick the one with the best toys in the waiting room.

But you know there's more to choosing a pediatrician. Whether you're looking for a pediatrician for the first time, or are new to the area, here's a few things to keep in mind:

1. Interview the physician and office manager. Find out if they have a good rapport with you and your children. Check the physician's medical background for board certification in pediatrics.
2. Are the office hours convenient? What's the policy for middle-of-the-night phone calls? Or weekends? When the physician's away, is there someone available as a back-up?
3. Does the hospital the pediatrician is affiliated with have a good reputation for pediatric care? Mothers already familiar with the hospital where you gave birth should consider choosing the same hospital for pediatric care.

At Winchester Hospital, we have some of the best pediatricians in the area, and a reputation for outstanding pediatric care. Our pediatric services include a Level II special care nursery, and a modern pediatric unit with a home-like atmosphere fully staffed by nurses dedicated to pediatric care.

We know how troubling having a child in the hospital can be. That's why from our emergency room to our lab and x-ray departments, we do more than other hospitals to make you and your child as comfortable as possible.

If you're looking for a pediatrician or would like information about Winchester Hospital's many programs and services, call our new

Learning About The Sea

Sanborn Elementary School students recently took part in the Jason Project, which brought them live pictures from the depths of the Mediterranean Sea. Headed by oceanographer Robert Ballard, the project relays pictures of an ancient shipwreck via satellite to children in museums all over the country. Pictured here are fifth-grade teachers Carolyn Redmond, left, and Bonnie Browning, far right. Between them are students Kurt Dahlstrand, Charlie Nabhan, Brian Kwon and Aaron Cooper.

Bancroft First-Graders Urge Water Conservation

About 100 first-graders at Bancroft Elementary School took their concern for water conservation to center stage May 19.

The kids put on a play about Flopsy, Mopsy and Cottontail's adventures in finding water for their garden. When the trio discovers they are out of water, they wonder how they'll be able to grow vegetables and how their mother will get to make her camomile tea?

Fortunately, Peter directs them to the Water Cycle Association.

Each committee of the association, acted out by different Bancroft classes, tells the rabbits and audience facts about the Water Cycle with songs, poetry and tips for conservation.

The play brought an end to Bancroft's unit on water conservation, said teacher Dorothy McCormick.

Women & Pre-Nuptial Agreements

If you are contemplating marriage or remarriage, you may be concerned that you will risk the eventual loss of some or all of your property or other assets in the event of a dissolution of your marriage by death or divorce. You may also be uneasy about raising these concerns with your prospective husband because you do not wish to seem unromantic or greedy. A properly negotiated and drafted pre-nuptial agreement can often address these very genuine concerns. The assistance of a lawyer in the negotiation and drafting process is essential if you wish your agreement to be valid and enforceable at some later time.

The Master Bedroom

Your bedroom is more than just a place to sleep. Depending on your lifestyle and the space available in your home, it may double as your gym, your office, or your home entertainment center. And, unless you live alone, your bedroom may be the only room in the house where you can lock the door, put your feet up and totally relax. It makes sense, then, to spend extra time and effort to make this room reflect your personality as it serves your needs.

Form follows function

This design principle is an old one, but as true today as when it was formulated. Before you start decorating, determine the uses to which you'll put your boudoir. If you work out in your bedroom, you'll need room for your equipment. Is your bedroom also your office? Leave space for a desk and computer table. If you'll utilize and area for relaxation, consider a comfortable chair or chaise lounge, reading lamp, bookshelves and stereo or television. Most important - if you share the room with a spouse or roommate, be sure to incorporate his or her needs into your plans.

"Bed" time story

Regardless of what else you have in the bedroom, the bed will be the centerpiece. Some tips for beds...

Angle from a corner wall - filling area behind headboard with plants and lighting. Select an unusual headboard - a unique door or gate, a folding screen, an oversized canvas painting. Brass or wicker will be current once again as well as oxidized iron. Fabric covered headboards are ever popular, and so very flexible with varieties of shapes, tufting, smooth or shirred.

Dress it up

Now comes the fun part! - designing your hideaway so that it is as smashing as it is functional. Choose style; create a mood. Incorporate unusual textures into your design scheme. Try sponging or combing painted walls.

Finally, add the photographs and personal touches that make the room uniquely yours. Avoid clutter in this room, but do indulge in accents such as porcelain boxes or bowls which can hold plants or jewelry.

Be eclectic. Mix antique with modern, florals and geometrics - whatever it takes to make yours a bedroom that's a pleasure to come home to.

Happy Decorating - see you in the Fall!

Andover Artist Has Exhibit

To Be Presented At Arboretum

Andover painter Tamara Elizabeth Krendel returns to the Arnold Arboretum with a new exhibition of her watercolors and oils of greenhouse interiors, gardens and an occasional landscape. "Paintings in Gardens and Glasshouses" will open to the public June 12 and be on view through Sept. 18 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily in the visitors' center.

Dealing with subjects as diverse as rhododendrons, delphiniums and day lilies, Ms. Krendel transforms the shape of growing plants and botanical settings into compositions of light. Well-known for her paintings of greenhouse interiors, which capture the way light shining through glass affects the colors of petals and leaves, she says, "I try to get close to the mysterious spirit and poetry of light and place."

Ms. Krendel has exhibited at Widener University Art Museum in Chester, Penn., and the Cosmos Club in Washington, D.C. Her work was included in The Boston Center for the Arts annual drawing show, Woodmere Gallery's (PA) annual show and the American Watercolor Society's annual exhibition, all juried shows. She received her MFA at the University of Pennsylvania in 1979 and pursued post-graduate studies at the Royal Academy of Fine Arts in Antwerp, Belgium.

Comedy To Be Presented At College

"The Marriage of Bette and Bo," an Obie-winning absurdist comedy by Christopher Durang, will be presented by Menagerie Theatre in the Topnotch Theatre at Northern Essex Community College in Haverhill at 8 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays, June 2-17 weekends.

This play follows Bette and Boo, a married couple, and their families through 30 years of divorce, alcoholism, madness, deaths and illness, all treated with farcical brilliance. The playwright finds irony, humor and compassion in ostensibly unhappy family events. Mr. Durang based the play on the lives of his parents and played "Matt," the only child who narrates the play, in the off-Broadway production.

Menagerie Theatre opens its third season with this production. Bruce Anderson of Kingston, N.H., an original Menagerie company member who has acted in prior productions, is the director.

Lou Farrell of Methuen plays Matt. Lou began his acting career in Methuen High School productions and graduated from Northern Essex in 1988 as a liberal arts major with a theatre concentration. He played in Northern Essex Theatre Club productions of Tartuffe and Story Theatre. He is a student in musical theatre at the Boston Conservatory.

Jean Anderson of Methuen plays Emily, the cello-playing sister of the bride. She has been a player in many musical and dramatic productions.

Paul DiMilla of North Andover plays Paul Brennan, father of the bride. He is Menagerie's artistic director and recently directed The Skin of Our Teeth as well as acted in many Menagerie productions.

"The response from viewers was enthusiastic," said one artist. "The Old Town Hall restoration has offered the Andovers Artists Guild an opportunity to enhance the walls with their watercolors and pastels."

Artists who had works displayed in the building were Ms. Amy, Betul Arin, Mary Bailey, Norma Gammon, Anna Hogan, Amanda Millay Hughes, Elaine Meisinger, Bette Moore, Jenny Munroe, Doris Peterson, Joan Rade-macher, Phila Slade, Dot Starkweather, Robyn Steinberger, Barbara Steu-benhaus, Ronald Valentine, Carol Van Doren, Ms. Wasserboehr and Mrs. L.G. Gym Exhibit Is Fund-raiser

The Penguin Park fund-raising committee is planning a "pop-in" at Pal-aestra Gymnastic Academy, Route 114, North Andover, for children between 15 months and 15 years old on Sunday, June 4, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Children need not be gymnasts to participate; they need merely be energetic, organizers said.

Youngsters must find sponsors and be prepared to do specific age-appropriate activities. Each group has been assigned a time to report and specific activities. Pledge sheets have been distributed and are also available at Memorial Hill Library or by calling Beth Swartz.

Any participant who collects within $5 of his or her pledge goal will receive a free Penguin Park T-shirt, committee members said.

All proceeds will go to the building of Penguin Park, a community playground specifically designed for children between infancy and 6 years of age. The park will be located on Iceland Road off Route 133 near Shawsheen Square and will include a multi-level wooden structure for creative play, a tire-climbing structure, bicycle path, garden area and age-appropriate swings.

A Penguin Park Players Songfest is planned for Monday, June 12, from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. at Temple Emanuel in Andover to help raise the necessary $30,000. Sandi Yellenberg and Cantor Donn Rosensweig will entertain the children.

Dinner Theatre Returns

Whatever became of dinner theatre? It's in full swing at the Bradford House, which is hosting live dinner entertainment Tuesday through Thursday until June 15. Two 45-minute sets begin at 7:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

The Boston Conservatory Show Mates, a group of six graduates and professors from the conservatory, sing and play a revue of popular Broadway tunes, with drum and piano accompaniment. "The performers dance and act out the songs right in the dining room," comments Susanna Tolini, manager of the Bradford House. "It's almost as though you're watching a musical while you dine."

The Show Mates performed for eight years at a restaurant on Cape Cod. "People who have seen them before will come in for the show because they're so good," Ms. Tolini says, "and there really is nothing else like this around."

The Bradford House, which opened last year on the grounds of the Bradford Country Club, features contemporary American cuisine in the atmosphere of a restored country barn.

Dine before the performance and stay for the show or dine during the entertainment. Reservations are accepted until 9 p.m.

Final Performance

Kristyn Burtt of Andover is in final rehearsals with the Youth Dance Company of Tewksbury in preparation for its last performances of the season. The company, a pre-professional troupe of advanced students from the Donna Miceli Dance Center, will join Kidsdance Co. and other dance center students for "One Moment in Time" at Durgin Hall, University of Lowell, June 10 and 11. The program, a tribute to artists, entertainers and innovative choreographers of this era, includes the full ballet Sleeping Beauty, a salute to Disney and dynamic jazz dance pieces, some of which have been set on the Youth Dance Company by guest choreographers. Tickets are available for all performances.

Participates In Musical

Christine Bogusz, a senior French major at Bethany College in Bethany, W.Va., appeared as a "reveler" in the school's production of the musical Celebration last month. Ms. Bogusz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bogusz of Abbot Bridge Drive.

Celebration is the story of Potemkin, a con artist, who tries to help an orphan to regain his garden from a rich man with plans for a factory on the site.

Woman Appointed PR Director

Margaret A. Spillane of Chelmsford, formerly of Andover, has been appointed to the newly created position of director of public relations and marketing at Emmanuel College.

Ms. Spillane will be responsible for expanding awareness of the college through the design and implementation of public relations plans and policies for undergraduate, graduate and continuing education programs, said college President Sister Janet Eisner, SND. She will develop and coordinate a cohesive marketing effort, including publications, advertising and general marketing collaterals.

"We are pleased to have a person of Margaret Spillane's caliber join the administration of Emmanuel College. Her years of experience in communications will be a tremendous asset to us as we move forward into the 1990s," Sister Eisner said.

Ms. Spillane most recently worked for computer-maker Wang Laboratories Inc. in Lowell, where she held several posts, including manager of worldwide product and marketing public relations. She served as Wang's public relations liaison to industrywide trade organizations, including the Association for Image and Information Management in Silver Spring, Md.

Before joining Wang in 1982, Ms. Spillane was director of public affairs for the office of transportation and construction, the state's transportation policy office.

She holds a bachelor's degree in fine arts from the College of the Holy Cross in Worcester. Ms. Spillane is the daughter of Mrs. Timothy J. Spillane of Haggetts Pond Road.

HOME and GARDEN

Trees A Valuable Asset

*What does he plant who plants a tree,
He plants, in sap and leaf and wood,
In love of home and loyalty,
And far-cast thought of civic good
His blessings on the neighborhood.*

Charles Lathrop Pack

Even if they did nothing at all, the beauty of trees would be reason enough to plant them. But trees give us cooling shade, produce the oxygen we breathe, absorb noise and air pollution and literally hold the planet together by halting soil erosion.

Trees provide food and shelter to wildlife and the materials with which we build our homes. By taking in and storing carbon dioxide, trees reduce atmospheric buildup of the gas and counteract environmental problems like the "greenhouse effect."

Trees enrich us in very practical ways. Planted near homes, trees reduce heating and cooling bills and increase property values. Real estate professionals estimate that a well-planted property sells faster than one that is not and for as much as 15 percent more.

It's easy to see that planting a tree is not just an immediate improvement, it's a priceless investment in the future.

The National Arbor Day Foundation, a year-round organization, says that although official observance is limited to just a single day in April, trees do so much to improve the quality of our lives that every day should be an arbor day.

According to the American Forestry Association, there are at least 100 million potential tree-planting sites located around American homes and in our communities. That means we don't have to go far from home to start improving the world today.

Here are some tree-planting tips courtesy of the National Arbor Day Foundation and Ross Daniels, makers of the Ross Root Feeder for trees and shrubs.

1. Plan the spot carefully, imagining how the tree will look when mature. Don't plant too close to the house. Roots can be destructive.

2. Soak bareroot trees in a bucket of water for 10-12 hours before planting. Never let any tree's roots dry out.

3. Dig a hole twice as wide as the rootball or spread of the roots on bare-root stock.

4. Set the tree into the hole so it sits at about the same level relative to the ground as it did when grown in the nursery.

5. Refill, putting topsoil at the bottom, poorer subsoil on top.

6. Stake for support using a pair of wooden stakes and wire.

7. Wrap the trunk with flexible plastic tree wrap to protect it from lawnmower damage, nibbling rodents and sunburn.

8. Water thoroughly right after planting and regularly every week to ten days for the first year using a root feeder attached to the hose. Root feeders save water and encourage roots to spread out for a sturdier tree.

9. Spread several inches of pine bark or wood chips at the base of the tree to conserve moisture and keep roots cool.

10. Fertilize immediately after planting using the root feeder with a tree and shrub starter cartridge fertilizer formula for trees. Plant food cartridges for the root feeder are available at garden centers.

Rain, Fog, Hinder Driving

Robert M. Hutchinson, Jr., registrar of motor vehicles, reminds motorists that driving in the rain and fog can be as dangerous as driving on snow and ice. Although rain and fog disrupt a motorist's view, motorists should different driving precautions for both.

Fog Driving Tips:

- Drive with lights on low beam, never with just parking or fog lights.
- Reduce speed and avoid crossing traffic unless absolutely necessary.
- Listen for traffic you cannot see.
- Use wipers and defroster as necessary for maximum vision.
- Be patient. Don't pass lines of traffic.
- Unless absolutely necessary, don't stop on any freeway or other heavily traveled road.
- If your car stalls or is disabled, move away from the vehicle to avoid personal injury.
- Consider postponing your trip until the fog clears.

Rain Driving Tips:

- Get the feel of the road and adjust your speed accordingly.

- Be sure tires have plenty of tread and are properly inflated.
- Wiper blades and defrosters need to be in good working condition.
- Drive with headlights on.
- To prevent carbon monoxide poisoning or drowsiness, leave your window open slightly.
- Wet brakes may pull or stop slower than usual.
- Constantly be alert for signs of hydroplaning.
- To help prevent unnecessary motor vehicle accidents, estimate a safe distance between your car and the one ahead to avoid tailgating.
- When roads are wet use a five-second count when stopping.

The beaver is one of the larger members of the rodent species.

Sun Shines On Memorial Day

By Melissa M. De Meo

It didn't rain on Andover's parade this year.

Memorial Day dawned clear and fair on the town—for a change. Residents turning out to honor U.S. servicepeople—and especially Medal of Honor recipients—weren't chilled or drizzled on as they have been for the past few years.

"Thanks for the lovely crowd that's turned out," retired Navy Capt. George L. Street III told the audience that packed the park in front of Memorial Auditorium. Capt. Street was one of four Andover recipients of the Medal of Honor who were honored at Monday's ceremonies.

The medal is the nation's highest honor for service beyond the call of duty during wartime and has only been awarded to 3,412 people.

"One does not win the Congressional Medal of Honor," said master of ceremonies John C. Doherty of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. It has to be earned, Mr. Doherty said.

Andover resident Capt. Street earned his medal while commanding the submarine U.S.S. Tirante on its maiden patrol during World War II. The captain and his crew torpedoed a Japanese tanker and two frigates in shallow waters off the coast of Korea.

"The quality of your gallantry is as undefinable as the quality of America that produced you," fellow Medal of Honor recipient Col. Harvey C. Barnum, Jr. told Capt. Street during his speech.

About 15 of the captain's crew members, including former Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody, came from Texas, Pennsylvania and Connecticut to pay their tribute. They all wore shirts that read: "I sailed with George Street, Medal of Honor skipper."

Monday's services also honored medal winners Henry F. Chandler, Frank S. Gile and William Marland, Andover Civil War veterans. Capt. Street's wife, Mary Martha, and Ingrid Beach, wife of the Tirante's executive officer, unveiled a tablet honoring the four servicemen.

"Today we stand in the shadow of giants," Col Barnum said. "As we praise their deeds, we must realize we cannot discharge our solemn obligation to them with mere words. They were born with faith, and they kept that faith."

Col. Barnum, military secretary to the commandant of the Marine Corps, became the fourth Marine to earn the Medal of Honor for his combat action during the Vietnam War.

He, along with Capt. Street and guest Medal of Honor recipients Navy Lt.j.g. Thomas J. Hudner, Jr. and Army Sgt. Charles A. MacGillivray, were given the Andover Award for Distinguished Service during Memorial Day ceremonies. The award was presented by Board of Selectmen Chairman Gail Ralston.

mony, said Constance Gile, whose husband's grandfather, Frank Gile, was honored Monday. Landsman Gile, who served aboard the U.S.S. Lehigh during the Civil War, passed a line to the beleaguered Union ship Nahant under heavy fire in 1863.

Mr. Gile was the patriarch of a line of servicemen. His son fought in World War I, his grandsons in World War II and the Korean War, and his great-grandson was killed in Vietnam.

"This is a great honor," said Constance Gile, adding that the family was unaware of their ancestor's Medal of Honor until recently.

The town was decked out for the occasion in American flags that once draped the coffins of servicepeople from Andover, Mr. Doherty said.

In other Memorial Day traditions, West Middle School students Jennifer Batts and Darius Sidebotham recited "In Flanders Field" and Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, respectively. The Andover Choral Society sang "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and the Clan MacPherson, Andover High School, Air Force and Marine bands performed during the parade and ceremony.

The Marine Band performed an afternoon concert, which was well-received, according to John Lewis, director of the town's department of veterans' services.

Early morning ceremonies in local cemeteries paid further tribute to Andover servicepeople.

Several speakers praised Andover for its patriotism. "It is really U.S.A. Main Street," Sgt. MacGillivray said.

ZBA Tells Country Club To Quit Advertising

By Frank Messina

The Andover Country Club was told to stop advertising its restaurant by the Zoning Board of Appeals last week.

The ZBA ruled that town zoning regulations prohibit Yvon Cormier, owner of the private golf club, from seeking outside business from the general public.

Sitting in a residential district, the club is restricted by zoning bylaws from moving beyond its status as a private business, said ZBA Chairman Wesley Whitney.

Further, when Mr. Cormier won ZBA approval for country club expansion in 1982, the board added a condition that put a lock on a further expansion.

Recent radio and newspaper ads publicizing the club's Trumpeter restaurant went against the 1982 ruling, said Mr. Whitney.

"What the board concluded was that the public was being invited," he said, which made the restaurant "very public in nature. Their advertising is what invited the public, and the board held that that is contrary to the non-conforming (private) nature of the club."

'Their advertising is what invited the public, and the board held that that is contrary to the non-conforming (private) nature of the club.'

Wesley Whitney, Zoning Board chairman

The ZBA also found that the public was being encouraged to stay at guest rooms at the club, a use Mr. Whitney found similar to a hotel's functions.

However, the ZBA didn't see enough evidence to support a neighborhood group's contention that Mr. Cormier was also opening the doors of his function rooms to the public.

"There weren't enough facts to make a ruling on that issue," said the ZBA chairman, although he indicated there were probably "a lot more facts here than the board had before it."

The unanimous ZBA decision will be unofficial until Mr. Whitney writes the decision and all board members sign the document. The chairman said the board "seemed to be of one mind" on the case.

Toddler Unhurt After Crashing Van

By Frank Messina

A 2-year-old Andover toddler, possibly the shortest backseat driver in the world, escaped serious injury last week after crashing the family van into a neighbor's garage.

The child had been strapped into a baby car seat when his mother, Nancy Kumpf, 32, of 65 Gould Road, left the idling vehicle to retrieve a forgotten object from the house.

Left to his own devices, the toddler managed to unhook himself and crawl into the front seat where he yanked on the gear-shift lever.

The van jolted into gear and bounced across Gould Road into a neighbor's driveway, rolling some 100 feet before crashing into a cement foundation.

The impact smashed the garage door and sent the child hurtling into the windshield, shattering the glass, said Andover policeman Dennis Lane.

Miraculously, the 2-year-old came through without a scratch, said Officer Lane. More scared than hurt, the boy was treated and released from Lawrence General Hospital the same morning.

"His mother was actually in worse shape (emotionally) than he was," Officer Lane.

Mrs. Kumpf, listed as a preschool teacher, was not cited. The Andover policeman issued a warning about leaving an unattended vehicle with the motor on.

The streets were filled with the sounds of marching feet, gun shots and drums, as well as a variety of patriotic music.

The echo of gun volleys rang through Andover's Park Monday as the remembrance ceremonies came to an end.

Jack Williams of the Air Force Band of New England relaxes after marching in the Memorial Day parade.

The parade route was filled with spectators as Andover's residents came out to remember those who served during the country's wars.

The parade was full of people from all over New England. Here, local officials join in the celebration. In the front row are Selectmen Charles Wesson, Gerald Silverman, Gail Ralston, James Barenboim and William Downs.

OPINION

Fitting Tribute

Andover's annual Memorial Day tribute was a most fitting occasion and one which will be difficult for the Patriotic Holiday Committee to soon duplicate.

Paying tribute to Medal of Honor recipients from Andover was most fitting and an honor for Capt. George Street, U.S. Navy (Ret.) who was joined by several crew members from the U.S.S. Tirante, including former Massachusetts Governor Endicott Peabody who introduced Capt. Street.

Marine Col. Harvey C. Barnum, Jr., a Vietnam Medal of Honor recipient, delivered the principal address and a pertinent message for Memorial Day observance.

The unveiling of the Medal of Honor tablet, which will be hung in the town offices building, was performed by Mary Martha Street and contains the names of George L. Street, III and the late Henry F. Chandler, Frank S. Gile and William Marland, all Andover recipients of the Medal of Honor, the latter three having served in the Civil War.

All of this was enhanced by the appearance of the U.S. Marine Corps band from Cherry Point, North Carolina.

This particular musical outfit also returned to The Park at Memorial Auditorium Monday afternoon to give a concert before hundreds of residents and visitors who thoroughly enjoyed the performance which included martial music, along with show tunes and specially prepared musical tributes to people such as Irving Berlin.

Also appearing in the parade and exercises was the U.S. Air Force band from Pease Air Force Base in Portsmouth, N.H., a fitting complement to the Marine Corps band.

There was also the appearance of the traditional favorites, the Clan MacPherson band and Andover High School band, accompanied by the school's Captain's Council carrying American Flags.

Appearances along the parade route and at the exercises by Andover Police and Fire departments, led by the respective chiefs, won the applause of those lining the parade route.

Selectmen and other elected and appointed officials joined in the tribute, although there were some people missing, such as school committee members Margo Tilghman, Michael Frishman and Richard Hubbell.

Overall, it was a fine and fitting tribute, and although at the outset it was mentioned here that it would be difficult to duplicate, there is confidence that, based on past efforts, the Patriotic Holiday Committee will, indeed, come up with another exceptional tribute a year hence.

As someone commented Monday, this was 'Americana at its finest.'

DOWN THE YEARS

100 Years Ago — May 1889

The removal of the Andover National Bank to the Town Hall does not seem to have crippled its resources, which rose to nearly $600,000, as declared in the quarterly report.

Professors Taylor and Moore and Dr. Selah Merrill were in attendance at the annual meeting of the American Oriental Society in Boston on Wednesday.

The papers notice Prof. Down's especially appreciated and applauded part in a recent concert in Chelmsford.

Elwin Shattuck's house near Punchard Avenue, advertised to be sold at auction last Saturday, was bought at private sale the previous day by Mrs. Nathan Shattuck.

The members of the A.O.U.W. are arranging for the last entertainment of the season in their hall, Friday evening, May 31, Members of the Grand Lodge are to be present.

There is not much new work beginning in the building line, but the various jobs already begun are progressing favorably, although in some cases delayed a little bit by the day's rain.

75 Years Ago — May 1914

Ira Eastman of Cambridge was in town this week. T. A. Holt Company lost a valuable horse Monday evening.

Miss Alice Yates has resumed her duties at the Tyer Rubber Company office.

Herbert Russell of the Smith & Dove office, has gone to Cincinnati, for a few days on business.

Andrew McTernan has severed his connection with William Killian & Sons of Boston where he has been working.

The flags at the Post office, Memorial hall, and the G.A.R. hall are at half mast in honor of Maurice Welch who was killed in Mexico last week.

Little Everett Ward of Washington avenue entertained a number of his small friends at a party held last week, the occasion being his seventh birthday. Games were played and light refreshments served and the little folks enjoyed themselves to their hearts' content.

The fire department was called out about eight o'clock Wednesday morning to a fire on the old Tucker place, off Salem street, occupied by Jacob Glowacki. A large hen house was afire and a considerable amount of damage was done.

50 Years Ago — May 1939

Plans have been completed for the observance of Memorial Day by local Patriotic organizations. A special feature this year will be the dedication of the memorial plaque at the Memorial auditorium, this is to take place at 8:30.

Bernard L. McDonald was elected chairman of the organization committee of the Andover District of the North Essex Council of Boy Scouts at the meeting in the town house last Thursday evening.

The local Legion is planning to install four signs on the roads leading into Andover. With a large Legion seal in the center, the signs say: Welcome, Andover, Mass., Drive carefully. Andover Post No. 8.

The playground staff of instructors will be the same as last year, it was decided on Friday, with the exception of Donald Surette, TOWNSMAN photo.

Clearly A Mistake

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Today I feel as if I owe my fellow citizens of Andover an apology. Last Monday morning, while doing errands at Thompson's, I saw a petition against having a rifle range in the downtown area. My thought at the time was "Good, the downtown merchants are giving the rest of us an opportunity to express our disfavor with this idea. I don't want a rifle range only two blocks from where my son will be going to school next fall." I said as much to the clerks as I signed my name. I admit I did not read the fine print. Clearly, that was a mistake. I thought this was just a straight forward way to express my opinion on an issue in town. Perhaps I am naive about town politics. All I know about them is what I read in The TOWNSMAN. So imagine my dismay yesterday when I read in The TOWNSMAN that the petition came with strings attached—to the tune of two million dollars and that my signature had helped to put myself and other taxpayers in a position that is a classic case of Catch-22.

If, as indicated in The TOWNSMAN, the Town Manager advised the downtown merchants to word their petition this way, requesting the town take the property in question by eminent domain, then he did us all a disservice. I for one feel used and manipulated. My understanding of town government is that the Selectmen, the elected officials, tell the Town Manager what they want done on various issues. If the Selectmen feel that "their hands were forced," is this a case of the tail wagging the dog?

There is clearly a long history of sparring between Mr. Osgood and the town officials. I have this cartoon image in my head. It shows two men rolling up their sleeves about to fight. One is labelled Mr. Osgood and his thought balloon says "I'll make them real angry, I'll threaten to put in a rifle range." The other figure is labelled Town Manager and his thought bubble says, "We'll make him real angry, we'll threaten to take the property by eminent domain." Standing to the side are a group of people, children and adults looking confused and angry. That's right—that's us, the citizens of Andover.

It behooves the Selectmen to make Mr. Osgood and the town officials negotiate quickly a reasonable alternative to a rifle range. Then the need for the special town meeting will be null and void. If not, then they need to put some alternative articles on the warrant so that citizens can vote against having a rifle range without paying for property the town doesn't really need or want.

That's Education

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

No wonder other countries are passing us by at 100 mph in educating their children when our School Committee concerns itself with day care and opening a branch bank at the high school. But, then, day care is "enrichment" and a branch of the Warren Five will teach our children to balance their checkbooks. How about a McDonald's at West Middle? It will teach our children about the fast food industry, economics and how to make a profit, not to mention the benefit to parents who will save time and money transporting the kids to get a hamburger. Will it improve test scores and mastery of basic skills? I doubt it. Will it help produce more scientists and engineers? Not really. As long as our mental and financial resources are devoted to projects like these, we will fall farther and farther behind. As long as the School Committee gives way to pressure from private interests for projects with questionable or no educational benefits, we will be a third-rate nation. Let's cut the frills and concentrate on projects like the "Jason."

Your comments about the Sarkisian and Konjoian farms ("Just A Thought," May 18) hit the right button. Bravo! Your words instantly motivated me to write in agreement.

I particularly liked the fact that you didn't mince words. The Sarkisians and the Konjoians are what this town is all about. I commend you for your brave stand.

Reunion

"I'll never know," Mr. Karlesses said. "The good Lord was looking down at us."

"We got through that sucker scot-free," Mr. Grissom said.

The Tirante was heavily depth charged during its attacks. "We had to be still as a church mouse and quiet as death," Mr. Grissom said. "The nearest thing I can relate it to is having your head in a 55-gallon water barrel with two guys with sledge hammers banging on the sides."

"It was unreal," said former motor machinist Larry Flaman of New London, Conn. "I don't think we really thought about it at the time; we just hoped we'd get away with it. I didn't expect to live through the war."

Capt. Street said the crew worked smoothly during the attacks. "You can't be nervous on a submarine. You can be keyed up, but not nervous," he said. "Hearts were thumping, but we weren't defenseless. It's not like we were taking a Sunday joy ride."

Experience helped the Tirante's commanders. At the time they were in charge of the sub, Capt. Street had been on nine war patrols, Officer Beach on 11. Four or five is considered a lot, the captain said.

"And in times like that you can use all the experience you can get," he added.

For his experience, skill and "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity," Capt. Street received the Medal of Honor from President Harry Truman on the south lawn of the White House. The crew all received presidential citations.

Capt. Street took the Tirante on three patrols, including one near Nagasaki where the Tirante destroyed a collier, for which he was awarded the Navy Cross, the Navy's highest honor.

Today the football field-sized sub that sank 24 ships is either razor blades or on the ocean floor. When the Navy took it out of commission, the Tirante was either sold for scrap metal or used as a practice target, said Capt. Street. "The Navy has a heart, but once they take a ship out of commission, that's it."

Ever since childhood summers spent near a river in Virginia, Capt. Street said he's loved the water. "The Navy was a natural for me. I'm happiest when I'm at sea. I don't like cold places like the Pentagon."

After retiring from active duty in 1966, he took a job as chairman of the department of naval science at Woburn Senior High School. "The students were great. That's the future right there."

Always a student himself, Capt. Street still takes courses at Merrimack College and the Andover Adult Learning Center. The opportunity for a never-ending education was one of the reasons he joined the Navy, he said. "Every ship is a schoolhouse; you learn every day."

He pauses to feed a Navy film on the Tirante's adventures through an uncooperative projector ("This is just like working on a torpedo; it's so complicated," he complains.) and to say goodbye to his signalman.

The room, once buzzing with the memories and good cheer of Tirante crew members, is quiet.

He runs the film, in which a younger version of himself is asked if he thought he had gone beyond the call of duty. "I just say it seemed like a good idea at the time," he says.

Career Transitions

Middlesex Community College is currently recruiting students for the fall '89 term of its LIVE program. LIVE, which stands for Learn, Intern, Validate for Employment, is entering its 13th year of serving women in career transitions.

"LIVE is a unique, comprehensive, part-time, one-year program which provides classroom training followed by an internship experience," said Barbara Rubin, LIVE coordinator.

The first-semester program includes career development and planning, personal enrichment and management and communication skills, Ms. Rubin said. Classroom topics include interest inventories, information interviewing, resume preparation and assertiveness training.

The second semester features internship experience. Internships are designed jointly by the women and internship coordinators to meet individual career goals. Internship sites range from large high-tech corporations to small non-profit agencies. This year's roster included publishing, banking, management planning, human resources and retailing opportunities.

Joanne Morgan, internship director, sees the internship program as "an invaluable learning opportunity, where the requirements and challenges of the workplace can be experienced."

"The internship period allows the intern to ease herself and her family into the working world," Ms. Morgan said.

Girls' Track Team Captures Class B Title

By Rick Harrison

The most successful girls' track team in the history of Andover High continued its dream season last weekend, winning its first-ever Eastern Mass. Class B championship in action at Reading High.

The Lady Warriors, who also whacked Lowell 99-37 in their final dual meet last week to officially earn a share of the Merrimack Valley Conference Large School title with Chelmsford, remain undefeated (and once tied) in all competition this spring.

Andover finished 6-0-1 in duals and has also won team championships at the Wilmington Invitational, State Relays and Northern Area Meet.

This weekend coach Dick Collins' squad will be rated among the favorites at the All-State Meet in Gardner.

The scariest thing for Andover's opponents is that 90 per cent of their points in the big meets have been scored by underclassmen, indicating the locals could be on top for several years to come.

The Andover boys also did well last weekend, placing third behind Reading and Methuen in the EMass. Class B Meet.

The lone individual champion among all AHS competitors, both boys and girls, was senior pole vaulter Dave Perri.

Andover Girls

The Lady Warriors piled up 54 points without benefit of a first place, scoring in 11 different events to edge past runnerup and MVC rival Methuen (50) and third place Randolph (44).

Top performances were second places by freshman speedster Nicole Angelos in the 100 meters (12.9 seconds) and Krista Nickerson in the triple jump (35'0").

The champs came through with five third place efforts, including junior Brenna Cronin in the triple jump (34-11), senior Tri-Capt. Kathy Radulski in the 300 intermediate hurdles (49.0) and Leanna Mills in the javelin (101'5").

Both the sprint and distant relay teams also placed third, the 400 meter squad comprised of freshman Jill Ippolito, Layne Whitley, Maureen Maginnis and Angelos (52.5), and the 1,600 meter squad consisting of Brenna Cronin, Amy Heseltine, Kathy Radulski and Diane Hinchey (4:13.3).

Rounding out the AHS scorers were Carrie Lumley with a fourth in the javelin (98-0), Jill Ippolito fifth in the long jump (15'7"), Brenna Cronin sixth in the 400 meter dash (63.2), and senior Jackie Kupa sixth in the shot put (31'10 1/2").

In the dual meet romp over Lowell, AHS won 12 of 16 events and swept the 300 hurdles, high jump, shot put and javelin events.

Individual event winners included hurdlers Jen Romig (17.5 in 100 meters) and Kathy Radulski, with Radulski's 47.5 in the 300 meter hurdles a new school record.

Varsity Nine Bows From Tourney

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High varsity baseball team completed its 1989 regular season last week by qualifying for the Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament, winning the annual Lawrence Invitational Tournament with victories over North Andover and Methuen, and dropping a tough non-league finale to Danvers that may have cost the Golden Warriors home field in the opening round of the tourney.

AHS made it two straight EMass. qualifications following an 8-4 victory over Haverhill that ended the Merrimack Valley Conference campaign. The Warriors, Large School champs last spring, settled for third place this time around as they finished just two games behind top dog Billerica and one behind runner-up Central Catholic.

Andover rolled to its second Lawrence tourney title in three years with surprising ease, exploding early in both games to defeat North Andover 9-3 in the semifinal and Methuen 12-4 in the final.

Senior catcher-shortstop Keith Abernathy was the deserving recipient of the tourney's Most Valuable Player Award. Keith, who will attend UMass-Amherst in the fall, went 6-for-7 with five RBI in the two contests.

Danvers, catching Andover playing its third game in as many days, pushed across a pair of runs in the top of the seventh to pull out a 5-3 victory. The Tanners are also tourney-bound.

Coach Dave Bettencourt's team will enter the tournament with a 14-6 overall record, hoping to advance a couple steps further than last year when Andover battled to the North Sectional final before dropping a 1-0 decision to Waltham.

AHS expected to learn the name of its first round opponent earlier this week, and was likely to open play either tomorrow afternoon or Saturday.

Andover, 8-4

The Warriors parlayed a six-run third inning and the solid relief pitching of John Russell into an 8-4 triumph over Haverhill.

The six-run explosion featured Keith Abernathy's first home run, a two-run double by Todd Musteraite, and run-scoring singles from Steve Surette and Dan Ferris.

Junior lefty Chris Eggert hiked his record to 5-1 with four frames of five-hit hurling. Eggert fanned five and again had exceptional control (no walks).

Russell scattered three Hillie safeties and yielded one run in his three innings of work.

All-Conference player John Glynnied the way with another perfect 4-for-4 day, Matt Pothier rapped two hits and single safeties were contributed by Doug Howes and Jack Dalton.

Lawrence Tournament

In the semifinal romp over North Andover, the Golden Warriors leapt to a 5-0 lead in the first inning and coasted from there.

cord.

Other victors were Nicole Angelos in the 100 meters (13.3), Maureen Maginnis in the 200 meters (27.3), Diane Hevehan in the 800 meters (2:28.0), Diane Hinchey in the mile (5:42.0), Melissa Salazar in the high jump (4-6), Jackie Kupa in the shot put (35'1"), Leanna Mills in the javelin (106'3"), Jill Ippolito in the long jump (15'4") and Krista Nickerson in the triple jump (33'7").

Andover's sprint relay foursome of Ippolito, Layne Whitley, Maginnis and Angelos also broke the tape in 52.4.

Steve Surette started on the mound, but once Andover had the big lead he was lifted in favor of Chris Eggert.

The strategy was to save Surette, who is 18-8 lifetime at Andover, for the final the following evening.

On came Chris Eggert once again, and he tossed four solid innings to notch another victory and boost his record to 6-1.

Tournament MVP Abernathy began earning that award with a two-run double in the first against NA, rescuing Matt Pothier and Pete Radulski who opened the game with consecutive singles.

John Glynn's fifth straight hit, a line drive single, plated Abernathy. Later hits by sophomore Dave Blank, Jack Dalton and John Russell produced two more runs and a very comfortable cushion.

Three more runs crossed in the fourth when Eggert hammered an RBI double. Pothier spanked a run-scoring single and white-hot Abernathy clouted an RBI two-bagger.

The champs' 15-hit barrage was led by Abernathy at 3-for-4, while Pothier and Radulski chipped in two hits apiece.

Big sophomore pitcher Mike Marinaro made an auspicious varsity debut, mopping up neatly and smacking a basehit besides.

In the title game Andover humbled a Methuen team that entered with an 18-1 record, one of those victories earlier in the season at Andover's expense (9-5).

This time it was all Golden Warriors, as they jumped on surprise starter Tom Langlois and MVC Most Valuable Player Dave Bueno for six runs in the first inning and a prohibitive 8-1 lead after two frames.

AHS made it 40 hits in three games by pounding out 12 in this one.

Steve Surette was the main beneficiary, getting a chance to relax somewhat with the big lead. The ace senior righthander, now 4-3 overall, worked five innings of one-hit ball.

Dave Blank finished up and whiffed five batters in two overpowering innings. He also walked a pair and allowed one "excuse-me" bloop hit.

In the six-run first previously undefeated Langlois walked the bases loaded and then permitted a two-run single by Blank and RBI double by sophomore Joe Iarrobino.

Jack Dalton singled home the fourth run, and consecutive suicide squeeze bunts by John Russell and Surette had the Rangers' reeling.

The rest was academic.

Keith Abernathy went 3-for-3, scored two runs and drove home three.

Iarrobino, who will have a chronic separated shoulder problem corrected through surgery this summer, came up big with a pair of hits and four RBI.

Pete Radulski smacked two hits and scored three runs.

Bobby Sheehan made Andover High baseball history when he pinch-hit in the late going, becoming the first freshman ever to appear in a varsity game.

The Golden Warriors used 21 players altogether in the contest with Albie Minichello, Matt Orlando, Dana Orlando and Jeff Hurley among those junior varsity players seeing their first action with the varsity.

Danvers, 5-3

If the Golden Warriors ran out of gas in this one it's excusable.

Three games in three days is tough, and coming down after the high of winning a tournament adds to the difficulty.

Andover spotted the visiting Tanners a 1-0 lead in the top of the first, then tied it in the home half when John Glynn singled home Keith Abernathy.

AHS grabbed a 3-1 lead in the second on singles by Peter Reming, Steve Surette, Matt Pothier (RBI) and Pete Radulski (RBI).

But the locals managed just two harmless hits the rest of the way.

Danvers tied it 3-3 with a pair in the fourth, and in the pivotal seventh Jeff Ouellette singled, Matt Schmink walked, Eric Crowley singled for the go-ahead run and Jim Budjell singled home the insurance tally.

Joe Iarrobino and pinch-hitter Dan Ferris added basehits for Andover.

Women volunteers, most former textile workers, met every Friday at the senior citizen center to stitch Lawrence's history into a pictorial quilt. Symbols sewn into the quilt reflect the changes which influenced lives. For instance, the street car in the quilt represents the "belt line" that travelled Essex Street to Union and

South Union streets, Andover Street, South Broadway and Broadway and back to Essex Street. It stopped in front of each mill and was a major means of transportation for workers and residents in the 1920s and early 1930s. Freshmen Near Perfect

By Rick Harrison

The Andover freshman baseball team recently wrapped up a near-perfect season, finishing 15-1 overall and winning the Merrimack Valley Conference championship.

This marked the first year in some time Andover fielded just one frosh team, and the results were impressive as coach Ken Maglio's crew won seven one-run decisions, two extra-inning games and lost for the only time late in the campaign to MVC runner-up Tewksbury (6-1).

Bobby Sheehan, Matt Harris and Jim Landry all stroked the ball at better than a .400 clip, while Sheehan, Todd Allard, Jim Hanning, Chris Lembo and Matt Grant were the top pitchers.

Sheehan's excellent overall performance was rewarded with a promotion to the varsity for the Lawrence Invitational and upcoming Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournaments.

Bobby was sent up to pinch-hit in Andover's 12-4 Lawrence tourney championship clinching win over Methuen Sunday night at Mark Devlin Field, making him the first freshman ever to appear in an AHS varsity game.

Andover, 7-6

Bobby Sheehan registered the pitching save by working out of a bases-loaded, one-out jam in the seventh, and he also led the offense with three singles and three RBI, as Andover nudged Wilmington by one run for the second time in five days.

Chris Lembo (2-0), who relieved starter Todd Allard with two down in the fourth, chalked up the mound win.

Andover was clinging to a slim 4-3 advantage until its magic sixth inning, when Matt Harris' two-run single keyed a three-run outburst for a 7-3 lead.

Wilmington then rallied for three in the seventh, knocking out Lembo and setting the stage for Sheehan.

Bobby, who entered with one out and the tying run at second base, immediately walked the first two batters he faced to load the bases and make things interesting.

But he then induced the next batter to pop out to Lembo at second, and ended the game with a flourish by striking out the final batter.

Adding singles for the winners were Jim Landry, Dan Waitkevitch and Ryan LeGrow.

Andover, 3-2

Never-say-die Andover kept its perfect record intact by rallying for single runs in the sixth and seventh, wiping out a 2-1 Lawrence lead and nipping the Lancer frosh in a steady rain at Mark Devlin Field.

Winning pitcher Matt Grant (2-0) authored a brilliant two-hitter, fanning six and walking one.

He outduelled big Lawrence righty Javier Fonseca, who used a roundhouse curve to strike out 13 Andover batters in seven innings.

Bobby Sheehan's one-out double rescued the deciding run in the top of the seventh, Matt Grant scoring after slapping a leadoff single and stealing second base.

Todd Allard contributed a pair of hits, driving home a run in the second to give Andover a 1-0 lead that stood until a two-run Lawrence fifth.

Dan Waitkevitch added a double to the attack, and Grant was a defensive standout on the mound. The winning pitcher saved a run in the late going, knocking down a hot shot to the mound and throwing the man out at first to end the inning.

Andover, 7-6

Jim Landry's clutch two-out RBI single to centerfield plated pinchrunner Matt Daniels with the winning tally in the bottom of the eighth, as Andover made it three consecutive one-run victories last week by edging Dracut at the West Middle Field.

Mike Daley launched the eighth-inning rally with his second hit of the game. Daniels replaced him and promptly stole second, and then Landry lashed his hit that scored the runner without a play at the plate.

Andover carried a 6-3 lead into the seventh inning of this game, but a series of walks keyed a three-run Dracut burst to force extra innings.

The locals almost won it in regulation, but a botched suicide squeeze cost them the potential deciding run in the bottom of the seventh. Matt Harris walked, stole second, took third on a passed ball, but was doubled up when the attempted suicide resulted in a pop out.

Todd Allard (3-0) chalked up the mound win after relieving starter Bobby Sheehan in the fifth.

Ryan LeGrow rapped a triple and single, Jim Landry and Mike Daley added two hits apiece, Garrett Ferris doubled and Matt Harris ripped a two-bagger.

Centerfielder Todd Allard and leftfielder Dan Waitkevitch both gunned down runners at the plate, catcher Garrett Ferris doing a nice job blocking home on both plays.

Shawn Garrity also played a strong defensive game at first base.

Tennis Teams Continue Domination

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys' and girls' tennis teams continued their total domination of the Merrimack Valley Conference, both clinching yet another Merrimack Valley Conference championship and both finishing their 1989 regular seasons with perfect overall records of 16-0.

In recent play the guys romped to 5-0 victories over Lawrence High, Central Catholic, Billerica and Chelmsford, and also chalked up 4-1 victories against Wilmington, Methuen and Lowell.

The gals, meanwhile, registered 5-0 blitzes of Lawrence, Tewksbury, Chelmsford, Lowell, Wilmington and Haverhill, plus 4-1 decisions over Billerica and Methuen.

The boys closed with ten 5-0 whitewashes and the girls had 13 shutouts to their credit as undisputed champions of the MVC.

The girls' title was their fifth straight, ninth since the program began, and coach Laura Goodman's squad has now won 55 consecutive league matches.

Coach Mike Wartman's boys have won or shared four successive MVC championships, and they've lost just once in their last 49 league matches.

Both Andover juggernauts now await the start of the single-elimination Eastern Mass. Team Tournaments this weekend.

The Andover boys have battled all the way to the state Division 2 final the past two years, and hope to go one step further this spring.

Lady Warriors' coach Laura Goodman also announced that Eric Hammond and Sarah Halloran were winners of two sets of Red Sox tickets raffled off by the team, the money raised to help pay for sweat-shirts and team awards.

Andover Boys

Jeff Hechemy, who last week won his second Merrimack Valley Conference MVP award hands down, sat the Lawrence match out as sophomore Chris Chiang, senior Peter Kannam and senior Mike Daun swept the singles in straight sets.

Chiang trimmed Ian Gosselin 6-0, 6-2, Kannam downed Nader Moussa 6-1, 6-0, and Daun's singles' debut resulted in a 6-1, 6-4 romp over Jamie Ipeson.

In doubles, Rob Labell and Steve Gack belted Mike Arcidiacono and Juan Ortiz 6-0, 6-1 and the AHS underclass duo of sophomore Adam Pedicino and junior Dave Hughes whitewashed Phat Ho and Zac Maldonado 6-0, 6-0.

Central Catholic went quietly for the second time this spring, managing to win just 10 games in the 10 sets.

Undefeated Jeff Hechemy returned to the lineup and drilled Brian Regan 6-2, 6-0.

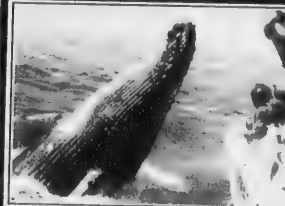

Chris Chiang, who has lost just once in 27 conference matches the past two years, whipped Brian Randone by the same 6-2, 6-0 score.

Peter Kannam made short work of Mike Dean 6-0, 6-1.

In doubles, Scott Clementi and Mike Tiberii handled CCHS' Jeff Durso and Jed MacZuba 6-1, 6-1 while Adam Pedicino teamed with Steve Gack to dump Ed McDermott and Mike Pascucci 6-2, 6-1.

The Chelmsford match was a bit closer than the 5-0 final score indicates, with two of the matches taken to three sets.

Peter Kannam went the distance before beating the Lions' Kevin Branco 6-0, 4-6, 6-3 at No. 3 singles, and the top doubles' tandem of Scott Clementi and Mike Tiberii were extended before edging Mark Bernard and Mark Branco 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

Everything else went as usual, Jeff Hechemy dumping Gregg Silver 6-0, 6-3, Chris Chiang whipping Dave Balan 6-0, 6-1, and the Steve Gack-Adam Pedicino duo ripping Jason Childs and Steve Zyllich 6-3, 6-1.

A sweep of the doubles keyed the 4-1 triumph over Wilmington, Scott Clementi and Mike Tiberii sweeping Rich Barletta and Kevin DiGiovanni 6-2, 6-3, while Adam Pedicino and Dave Hughes handled Russ Prince and Steve Toto 6-4, 6-0.

Jeff Hechemy remained the only MVC player to ever beat Wildcats' No. 1 Steve Cutone, making it a 6-0 career sweep (Cutone's 57-8) with a 6-2, 6-2 romp.

Peter Kannam romped 6-1, 6-2 over George Orfaly at second singles, while senior Mike Smith stepped in at third singles and dropped a 4-6, 4-6 decision to Wilmington's Mike George.

The Golden Warriors swept the doubles and won at first and second singles in a duplicate 4-1 performance against Haverhill.

Jeff Hechemy romped 6-0, 6-1 over the Hillies' John Rosenbloom, and Chris Chiang returned to the lineup with a 6-1, 6-1 cruise past Brian Snow.

In doubles, Dave Hughes and Adam Pedicino trimmed Jan Barone and Ha-yung Park 7-5, 6-1 while Mike Smith paired with Mike Daun to rattle Len Goodkin and Roth York 6-0, 6-1.

Rob Labell dropped a tough 7-6, 1-6, 4-6 decision to Tim White at third singles.

Billerica went down 5-0, Chris Chiang avenging his only league loss in two years when he edged Scott Christo 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

The other singles resulted in identical 6-2, 6-0 sweeps by Jeff Hechemy and Peter Kannam over the Indians' Tim Gibson and Rick DeRosa respectively.

In doubles, Scott Clementi and Mike Tiberii swept Mike Raybould and Tom DiNanno 6-1, 7-5 and the Steve Gack-Rob Labell team fought off a match point to nudge Conan Dailey and Bob Cataldo 4-6, 7-6 (8-6), 6-0.

The lineup was totally juggled for Methuen, with virtually the entire starting team given a rest.

Scott Clementi and Adam Mazonson rallied for three-set singles' victories, with Mazonson losing the first set and then rallying for the triumph.

In doubles, Dave Hughes teamed with Adam Pedicino and Paul Dehne with Mike Cowhy to produce straight-set waltzes.

Andover Girls

Coach Laura Goodman juggled her lineup slightly against Lawrence with junior Co-Capt. Cate Doherty, Eszter Vajda and junior Lori Howe sweeping the singles' matches.

For the AHS boys, who also travel to Gardner and the All-State Meet this Saturday, the points were almost equally distributed between field and running events.

Tom Benanchetti was second in the javelin with a 180' toss, and junior Jeff Ring grabbed third place in the 100 meters with an 11.4 clocking.

Eric Guzowski was fourth in the long jump (19'5"), Jon Bicknell sixth in the mile (4:38.0) and Dave Milne sixth in the high jump (6'0").

Both Golden Warrior relay teams were fifth, the 400-meter crew featuring Jason Hastings, Joe Hastings, Carleton and Ring (46.2) and the 1,600 meter quartet including Mike Kelly, Mike Angelos, Kurt Brucato and Guzowski (3:37.2).

Inex Airport Limo

Inex Airport Limo is a family run business that takes pride in having faithfully serviced the traveling public for over four years. They are dedicated to making your trip to Logan Airport less hectic. They provide air conditioned transportation to and from the airport by advanced reservation. When the customer returns from the trip, a call upon arrival guarantees that a vehicle, already stationed at the airport, will pick up the traveler up at the designated terminal within ten minutes. This allows time for luggage pick-up.

The George Sweeney family, owners of Inex Airport Limo, is in constant contact with the radio dispatched vehicles. Their door to door service is fast and efficient. Reservations may be booked or changed from out of state by calling their toll free number.

In addition to airport transportation, they offer courier and package service within a thirty mile radius of the Andovers, which includes Lawrence, Haverhill, Reading and Lowell. They are also initiating hospital service for those in need of transportation to area medical facilities.

Inex Airport Limo has been in business in this area for three years. Group rates are available. Their hours are 5:00 a.m. to 12:00 a.m. daily. For further information or to make a reservation call 475-5462, or if out of town 1-800-342-4235. R.C. Bernal

Committee Approves Early Childhood Program

By Lisa A. Boudreau

A new primary education pilot program and its $11,000 budget was approved at last week's School Committee meeting. The funding, which will come from the already allotted professional development program budget monies, will go to further develop, administer and evaluate both traditional and innovative teaching techniques at the first- and second-grade level.

The Integrated Primary Task Force, which reviewed primary education research and similar model programs in the area and examined current Andover early childhood programs, recommended the pilot program. It focused on heterogeneous student grouping, an integrated curriculum reflecting the unit approach, teaching teams and revised assessment techniques.

A main goal of the project is to develop a model program for children that won't lock them into rigid grade groupings, task force members said. It will allow open-ended opportunities for children to move through the first few years at an appropriate individual pace, said Linnea Gershenberg, coordinator of the Andover Early Childhood Center.

The model program will use updated as well as traditional teaching tools and will provide for a comparison of the pilot student's growth over four years with those in control groups in the regular program. Cooperative learning between the two team teachers will allow greater flexibility in assessing the pilot's progress. Formal standardized testing as well as sample portfolios of students' work and parent and teacher questionnaires will also be used.

A steering committee consisting of administrators and teachers will spend the next 18 months gearing up for the September, 1990, classroom opening. On their agenda will be organizational issues such as selection of a coordinating team, two team teachers, students and school location for the two classrooms.

Shooting Range

"Is this board comfortable with being able to determine the character of an applicant?" asked Selectman Gerald Silverman.

"I think we all seem to have reservations," said Mrs. Ralston.

Later on, Selectman William Downs said he felt the town "was going a little too far...to the point where we couldn't issue a license if we wanted to."

Selectman Jim Barenboim wondered if the proposed article would hurt two other shooting ranges in Andover: the Andover Sportsmans Club and the Lawrence Rod and Gun Club.

"How will this affect the clubs we currently have in town?" he asked.

While no selectman talked about scrapping the article, "it's obvious it needs some work," said Selectman Charles Wesson.

After hearing from the public at a 6 p.m. meeting on Friday, the board will decide whether to support the two articles on the June 19 agenda.

Time has been a problem for the selectmen. Although they have until July 10 to hold the special town meeting, the board has felt some pressure to schedule it as soon as possible.

Town politics seem to take a siesta during the hot months. Many residents head out of town after school lets out in late June, say Andover officials—and attendance at special meetings suffers.

Anticipating the vacation vacuum, the selectmen set aside June 19. But seeing the new article for the first time Tuesday night, the selectmen were faced with two choices: insert the article before a June 5 legal notice deadline or set back the special meeting.

Mr. Barenboim pressed for more time to review the article: "I'm not comfortable with five people who are not attorneys inserting (the article). We just got this, and now five lay persons are going to rewrite something that a team of attorneys put together?"

Under direction from the selectmen, Town Manager Kenneth Mahony hired attorney F. Anthony Mooney of Boston-based Hale & Dorr to advise the town on potential litigation stemming from the Richards/Osgood property.

After a brief flirtation with changing the special meeting date—at least three selectmen had scheduled vacations after June 21—the board decided to stay with June 19 and scheduled Friday's meeting for further discussion and public input.
